CAMDEN — The Cooper Health System Board of Trustees has appointed pediatrician and healthcare business leader, John M. Tedeschi, MD, to Cooper's Board of Trustees.

Tedeschi is founder, chief executive officer, and chairman of the board of Continuum Health Alliance, LLC, a regional healthcare management corporation, and Advocare, LLC, one of the largest, independent private physician groups serving New Jersey and the greater Philadelphia region.

"We are delighted to welcome Dr. Tedeschi to Cooper's Board of Trustees," said George E. Norcross III, board chairman. "Dr. Tedeschi is one of the most influential and prominent physicians in South Jersey. He has been at the forefront of developing innovative strategies for delivering healthcare services locally, regionally, and nationally for more than 40 years. His experience and business acumen will lend greater insight to the care we provide at Cooper, particularly in the area of pediatric services."

Tedeschi was raised in Camden and completed his pediatric internship and residency at Cooper University Hospital. He has been a member of the Hospital's medical staff for more than four decades. After serving as an Air Force Medical Corps pediatrician, in 1968 Dr. Tedeschi joined the Collingswood practice now known as Advocare South Jersey Pediatrics.
